

Default Report

Prakruti's Capstone Project - non-Indians

February 16, 2021 12:47 PM MST

Q2 - How old are you?

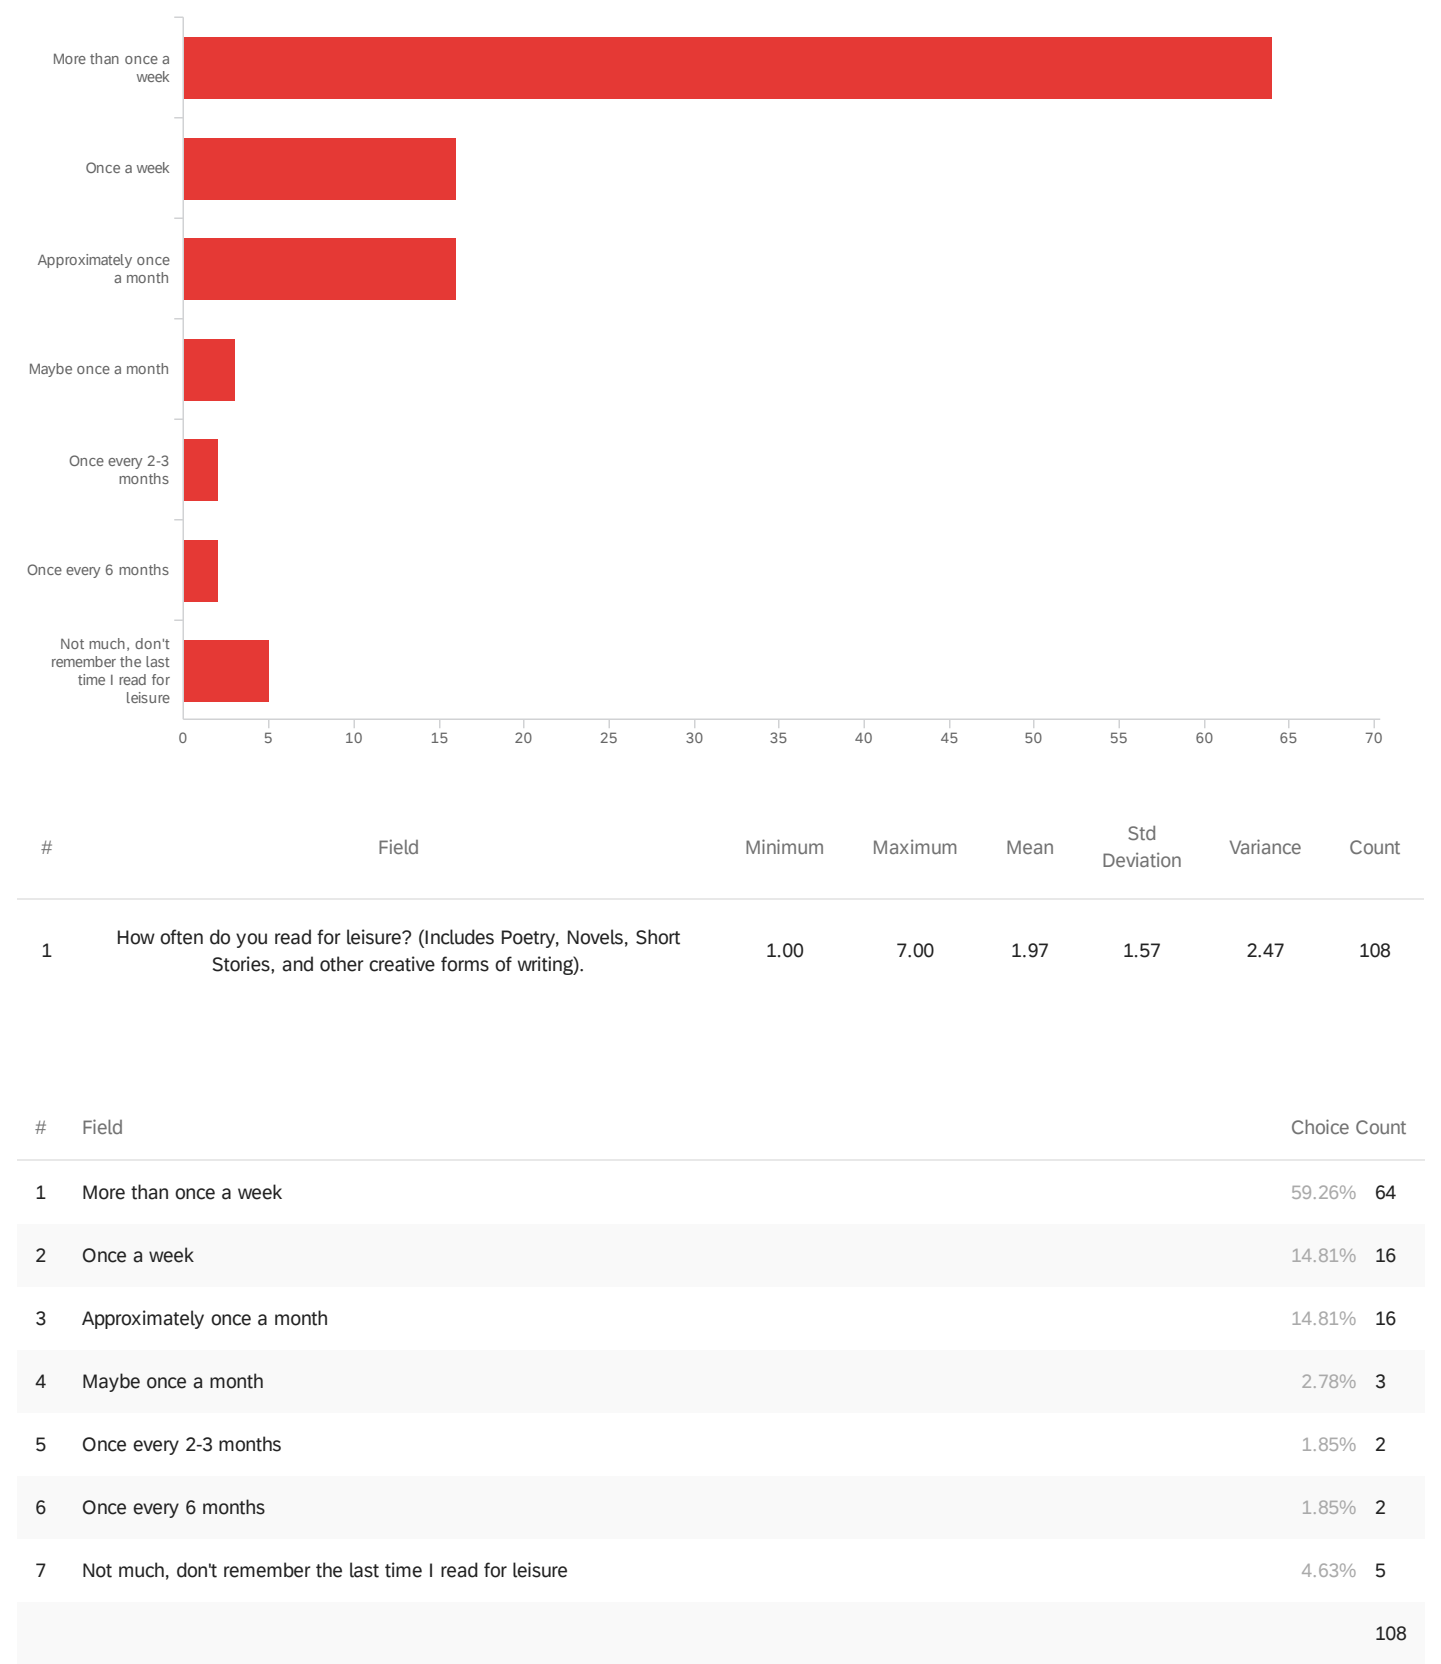

#	Field	Minimum	Maximum	Mean	Std Deviation	Variance	Count
1	How old are you?	2.00	7.00	4.10	1.09	1.18	108

#	Field	Choice Count
1	10-15	0.00% 0
2	15-20	3.70% 4
3	20-25	27.78% 30
4	25-30	35.19% 38
5	30-40	25.00% 27
6	40-50	4.63% 5
7	50+	3.70% 4
		108

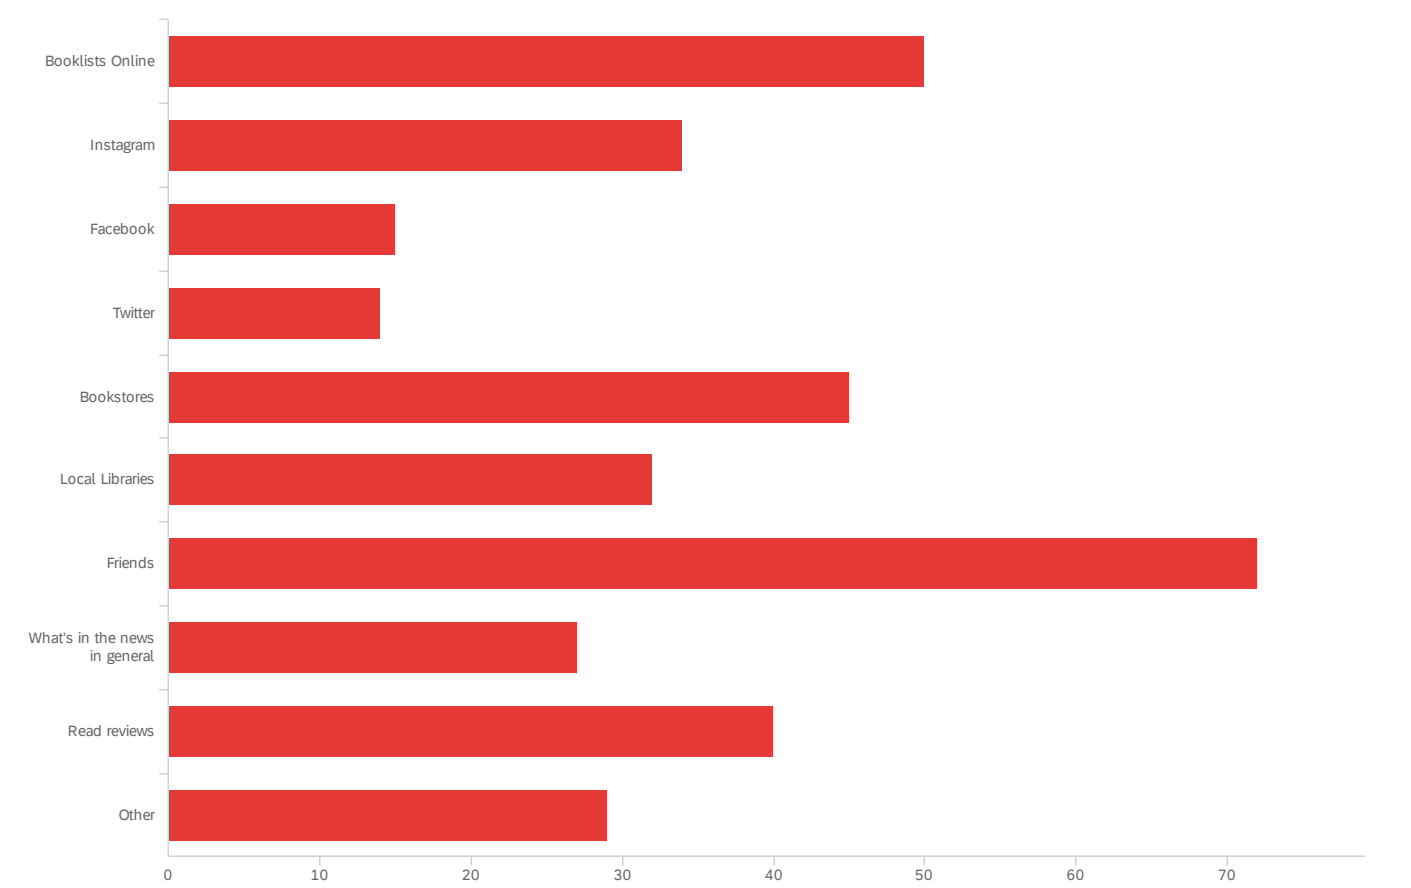

Showing rows 1 - 8 of 8

Q5 - How often do you read for leisure? (Includes Poetry, Novels, Short Stories, and other creative forms of writing).

Showing rows 1 - 8 of 8

Q20 - How do you find out about new books and authors and how do you choose your next read?

#	Field	Choice Count
1	Booklists Online	13.97% 50
2	Instagram	9.50% 34
3	Facebook	4.19% 15
4	Twitter	3.91% 14
5	Bookstores	12.57% 45
6	Local Libraries	8.94% 32
7	Friends	20.11% 72
8	What's in the news in general	7.54% 27
9	Read reviews	11.17% 40
10	Other	8.10% 29

Showing rows 1 - 11 of 11

Q20_10_TEXT - Other

Other

I don't

Loyola University Chicago recommendations

Goodreads

pressure from my overloaded bookshelf

Professors

Other books point me to new books

My own online searching

I choose books that are connected to my interests at the time.

Goodreads, reddit

Goodreads

I'm a librarian :)

all of the above (except Instagram)

Literature organizations, publisher websites, authors I follow

Tumblr

Goodreads

Friends and wife. And working through lists that I'm trying to get through. When I find an author I like I try to read everything by the author.

Professional Association Newsletters

NetGalley, blogs, Book clubs, GoodReads

Other books

Booktube (YouTubers who talk about books)

Other

Good Reads

Goodreads.com

From authors I like

Family Friends and Colleagues

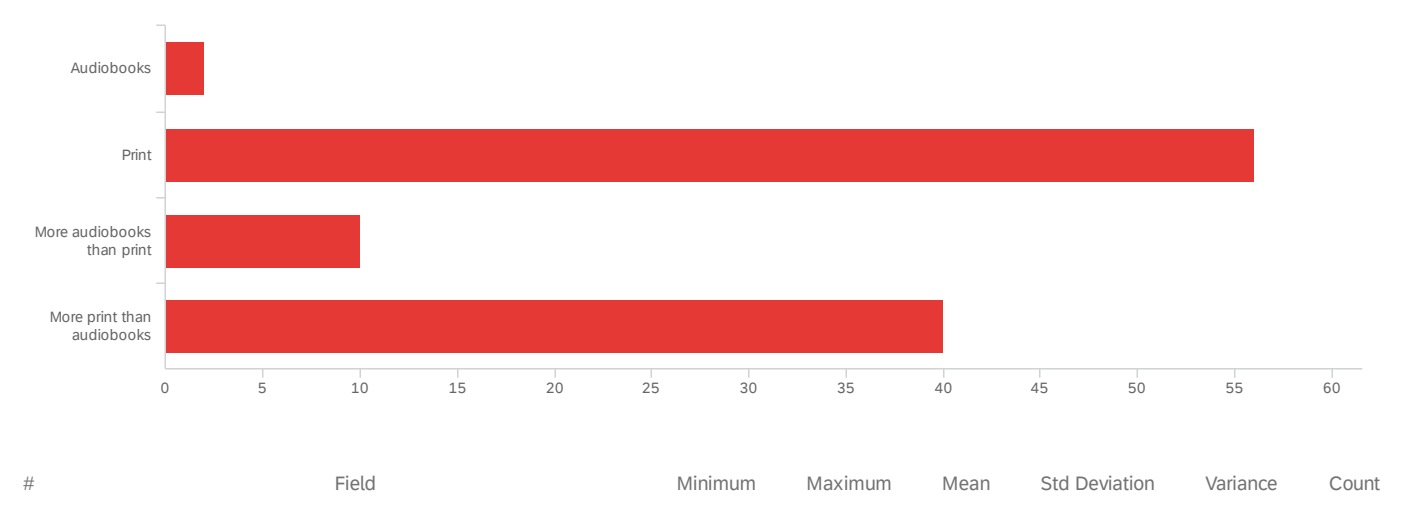

The website goodreads recommends books based on users' reading histories, so I use that as a guide sometimes.

Newspaper

Book of the Month. Goodreads.

Library and bookstore newsletters

Q25 - Do you listen to audio books or read in print (digital or offline)?

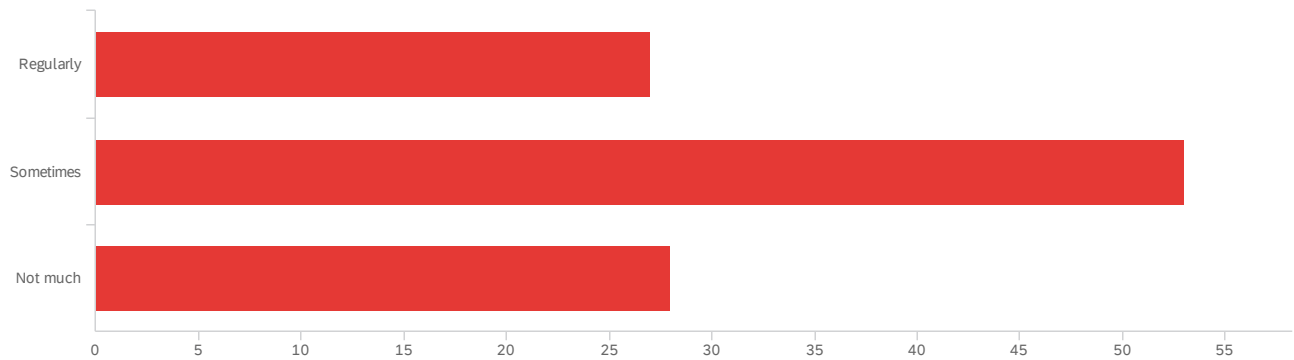

#	Field	Minimum	Maximum	Mean	Std Deviation	Variance	Count
1	Do you listen to audio books or read in print (digital or offline)?	1.00	4.00	2.81	0.96	0.93	108

#	Field	Choice Count
1	Audiobooks	1.85% 2
2	Print	51.85% 56
3	More audiobooks than print	9.26% 10
4	More print than audiobooks	37.04% 40
		108

Showing rows 1 - 5 of 5

Q18 - Do you read translations of works and writers from outside your country/language of reading?

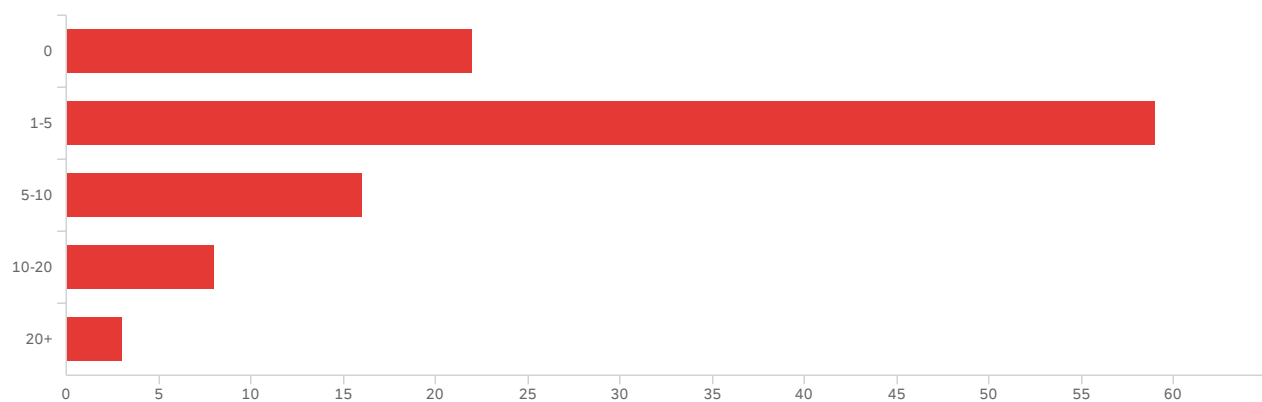

#	Field	Minimum	Maximum	Mean	Std Deviation	Variance	Count
1	Do you read translations of works and writers from outside your country/language of reading?	4.00	6.00	5.01	0.71	0.51	108

#	Field	Choice	Count
4	Regularly	25.00%	27
5	Sometimes	49.07%	53
6	Not much	25.93%	28
			108

Showing rows 1 - 4 of 4

Q3 - How many translations have you read in the last year?

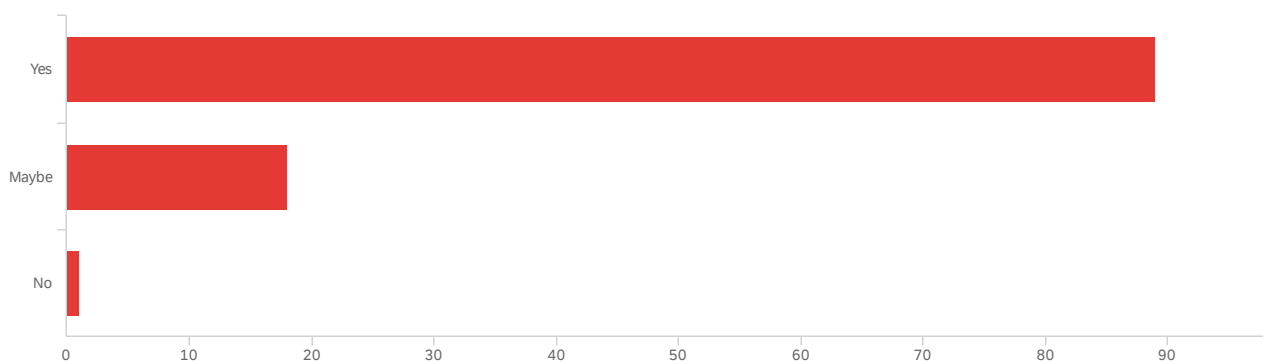

#	Field	Minimum	Maximum	Mean	Std Deviation	Variance	Count
1	How many translations have you read in the last year?	1.00	5.00	2.18	0.93	0.87	108

#	Field	Choice	Count
1	0	20.37%	22
2	1-5	54.63%	59
3	5-10	14.81%	16
4	10-20	7.41%	8
5	20+	2.78%	3
			108

Showing rows 1 - 6 of 6

Q7 - Do you feel like you want to read or know more stories from other regions?

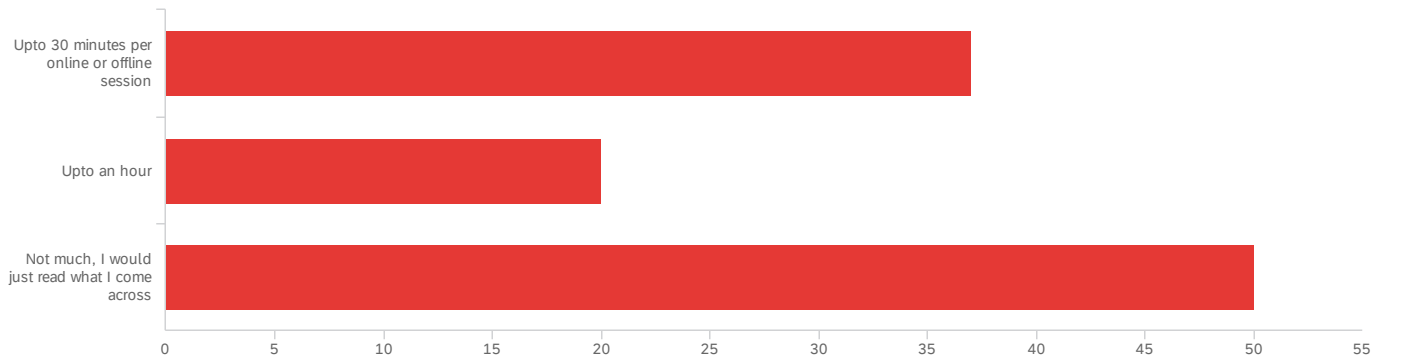

#	Field	Minimum	Maximum	Mean	Std Deviation	Variance	Count
1	Do you feel like you want to read or know more stories from other regions?	1.00	3.00	1.19	0.41	0.17	108

#	Field	Choice	Count
1	Yes	82.41%	89
2	Maybe	16.67%	18
3	No	0.93%	1
			108

Showing rows 1 - 4 of 4

Q28 - How much time would you spending to discover new books from other regions?

#	Field	Minimum	Maximum	Mean	Std Deviation	Variance	Count
1	How much time would you spending to discover new books from other regions?	1.00	3.00	2.12	0.89	0.80	107

#	Field	Choice Count
1	Upto 30 minutes per online or offline session	34.58% 37
2	Upto an hour	18.69% 20
3	Not much, I would just read what I come across	46.73% 50
		107

Showing rows 1 - 4 of 4

Q16 - In what ways do you engage with literature online? (Examples: Visit literary websites, are a part of virtual book discussions, book groups on social media platforms, read fan-fiction etc). You can put more than one thing.

In what ways do you engage with literature online? (Examples: Visit literar...

None really

Read reviews online, look for literature critics online

Social media platforms

virtual book clubs, goodread website

Visit Goodreads (review and keep track of books I read/want to read), read fanfiction, discuss books on social media, attend virtual library events literary websites, cultural websites and talks, Sometimes social media as I am following some literary pages

googling

Read book reviews on topics that I am interested on

I like Goodreads, I also follow a few book pages on instagram

no at all

Not engaged in literature

Read online samples from amazon; Download ebooks if they are available for free

virtual book clubs

None

I visit literary websites regularly and follow news about the recent literary scene

Visiting literary websites

none

I like seeing book reviews on Goodreads and starting fights

social media

In what ways do you engage with literature online? (Examples: Visit literar...

visit websites

I've read multiple Wattpad stories. But if I have the choice of buying a physical copy I'd wait till I had one and then read it.

Watch videos about book recommendations (YouTube and Instagram)

Read fan fiction

N/A

Book groups on social media

Goodreads, book groups on Twitter/Instagram/Facebook

Literary websites, virtual book discussion and book groups, tik tok book tok,

Literaty website

Sometimes I go on media/journalistic platforms and they might promote books

Read reviews about books

Visit literary websites, read online copies of literature

I've participated in a couple virtual book clubs, I search for my next reads online, I read fan-fiction

Follow authors on social media

I seldom do

goodreads

Read lists, browse goodreads, comment reddit, work teams channel, make lists, browse publishing catalogs, request digit galleys social media book groups and accounts, browsing library websites, goodreads

Visit literary websites and blogs, online reviews.

Visit review sites, review books, book follows on social media, read fanfiction

Goodreads, virtual book discussion group, virtual author discussions, check award lists, read ebooks through Overdrive/local library

Fanfiction

Fan fiction; reviews; social media; news; critiques;

Google Search, "best [blank] reddit"

In what ways do you engage with literature online? (Examples: Visit literar...

I follow a number of Instagram book review accounts and I use Goodreads regularly.

Library Thing, Good Reads, author e-newsletters, library newsletters

Follow authors on social media, engage with publishers pages, hunt down diverse literary orgs, read webtoons, etc

read graphic novel adaptations; read/watch book reviews

I have a few authors that I get regular emails from and I get emails from Goodreads as well. Sometimes after reading a book, I go on the internet to find more information about it/the backstory/author/etc.

PDFs, e-books from university libraries, maybe through a social media post

I'm always interested in what people I know/respect are reading, and am likely to follow their recommendations.

Literary websites, discuss books on Twitter etc, read poetry published online

Read reviews of books from blogs

Google and do research, read fanfiction

Book groups, random social media chatter. Often discuss with friends.

Browse and occasionally respond to reddit threads (r/books), update goodreads

Reading fan-fiction, online book groups on social media, follow authors and literary critics on social media

I'm in a virtual book group and use good reads

I'm a librarian so I have access to loads of professional resources. I also follow many authors, illustrators, editors, amd publishers on Instagram. I regularly read blogs by numerous bloggers, professional and more personal.also book clubs, friends/family, sites like Good Reads, and convos with patrons. I follow hashtags like #ownvoices and #socialjusticebooks etc

Read book reviews online; get recommendations from independent bookstores; virtual book group

Websites, Instagram

Visit book review websites

Only use online for literature to order books and audiobooks

Fan fiction, watch book review videos, engage with some comments sections

Virtual book clubs. I'm on goodreads. I also post reviews of books I've read on Instagram. I'm also in a book club (physical meetups pre-covid)

Library websites, book discussions, social media groups

Part of publisher mailing lists, book groups on social media platforms

In what ways do you engage with literature online? (Examples: Visit literar...

Visit literary websites; cultural magazines' websites from France and Romania, buy digital versions of books, order books from publishing houses.

online academic literature communities, instagram pages, subreddits, friends' suggestions (on social media)

goodreads

Visit literary websites

Visit literary websites, use good reads, read reviews, read e-books, borrow e-books from the library

I'm in a few book clubs that meet online; I read reviews; I follow authors I like on social media; and I attend online talks by authors sometimes.

Mainly I follow authors I like and am always interested in what they rec. I'm on goodreads too.

Social Media Platforms.

I don't really. I prefer paper books I mostly use online platforms to keep track of what I have read

Book group on social media

Visit websites

I visit literary websites, receive emails about literature and literary criticism, and follow book groups on social media platforms.

Depending on the definition of literature, I read scholarly articles online (Jstor, etc), but if I am reading for pleasure, and even for most classes, I avoid doing it via computer, tablet, etc.

Research databases

Read about books, including their summaries, on Wikipedia. Also, book fan pages come up on my suggested posts on Instagram.

literary websites

I review books on Goodreads and Book of the Month, read reviews, etc.

I am in a Zoom book club and I use Goodreads to keep track of my books and write reviews

I follow book blogs on Tumblr

I have been a part of book groups, but I am not on any social media platforms, so that limits my exposure.

I dont.

sometimes i get ideas from friends' facebook posts on books they are reading, mostly Audible or Libby makes suggestions

Read fanfiction, use programs like TheStoryGraph to log my reading and look for new books, occasionally visit the websites of authors to see if they have interviews, upcoming events, or Q&As about books I enjoyed, and over quarantine for a brief time my friends and I had a virtual book club! We read three books and met for three months, but then it fell apart.

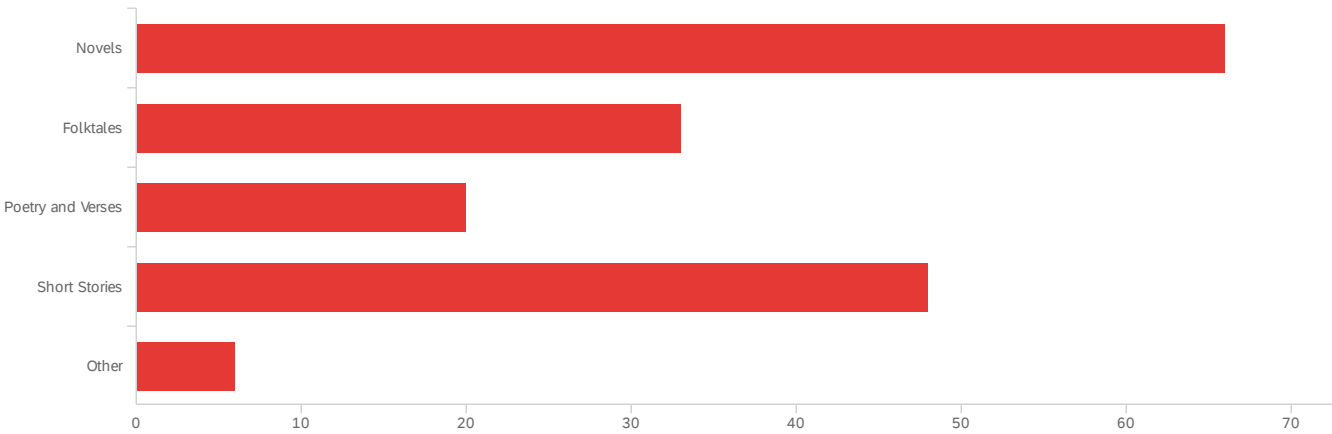

In what ways do you engage with literature online? (Examples: Visit literar...

Browse small bookstore websites, read fan-fiction, follow my favorite authors' blogs literary websites, virtual book discussions

Listen to booktubers on YouTube

Q9 - If you were to read translated stories from other regions, what genre would you prefer?

#	Field	Choice Count
1	Novels	38.15% 66
3	Folktales	19.08% 33
4	Poetry and Verses	11.56% 20
5	Short Stories	27.75% 48
6	Other	3.47% 6
		173

Showing rows 1 - 6 of 6

Q9_6_TEXT - Other

Other

Philosophy

Historical fiction educational/political

Mix of the above - all great for different moods!

I am always interested in religion and myth, but not just the hegemonic texts! I like finding folklore and less-text based formats for stories

I love drama! Reading translated plays is always fun!

Q27 - If you were to begin looking for works from India, how would you start doing it?

#	Field	Choice Count
1	Go to google and type 'Indian literature'	37.23% 51
2	Reach out to fellow readers who may know more	28.47% 39
3	Other	11.68% 16
4	Go to a bookstore or library to find out	22.63% 31

137

Showing rows 1 - 5 of 5

Q27_3_TEXT - Other

Other
search for Indian authors, then read their book summaries to find one of interest
I would select books that are relevant to my interests. Metadata is great.
Look for a goodreads list, book riot list,
Websites and databases like Goodreads, Novelist, Book Riot, etc.
Mix of the above, plus I follow several Desi authors and I guess I'd see if they have suggestions as I love their work
Talk to my friends who are scholars in South Asian Studies, follow bibliographies of resources I am already reading Literary magazines' recommendations
goodreads lists

Other

I rely on Goodreads for great lists of authors by region. I've read a couple of Indian authors and also look at the "you may also like..." recommendations.

I guess I'd try to see if Arundhati Roy or Rohinton Mistry had anything posted online about their recs.

Look for Indian authors whose topics intrigue me

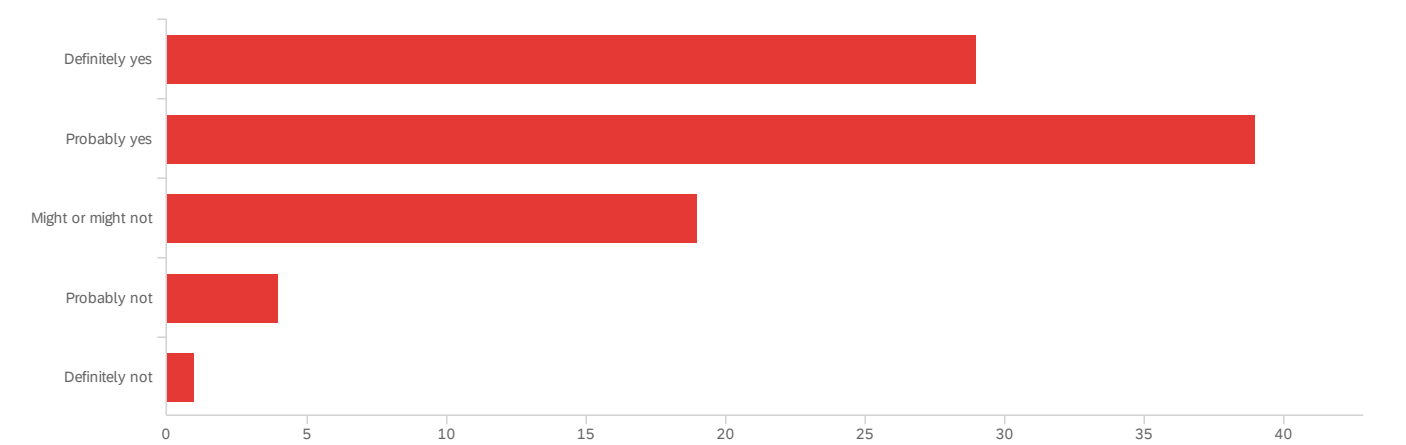

Goodreads. Google Books.

i might google, but i might also search for it within a library or audiobook app

Search google for authors of whichever type of literature I'm looking for, such as fantasy or folktales

I would go back to some of the Indian authors I have already read/enjoyed, and see what books were recommended for people who liked those texts

Q21 - Do you think a website or a digital library to know more about Indian stories would interest you?

#	Field	Minimum	Maximum	Mean	Std Deviation	Variance	Count
1	Do you think a website or a digital library to know more about Indian stories would interest you?	1.00	5.00	2.01	0.89	0.79	92

#	Field	Choice Count
1	Definitely yes	31.52% 29
2	Probably yes	42.39% 39
3	Might or might not	20.65% 19
4	Probably not	4.35% 4
5	Definitely not	1.09% 1
		92

Q24 - In what way would you want to 'read' these stories?

93

Showing rows 1 - 3 of 3

End of Report